This might have been predicted years ago, but the time of occurrence seemed to the last degree uncer tain and indefinite.

Recent events have, however, helped advance it considerably. The riots and outrages in the Yangteze Valley and else where, if they have not exactly proved the last straw, have brought about a tacit agreement among the Treaty Powers that the limit of their forbearance has been reached good must be taken. During the reigns of Hien Fung and Tung hib he joined in the war as a thi-hsien and created on army which is called the ung-wu-chuan. He fought buttles in Honan; Inpah, Anhni, and Chibli and reconquered everal noted cities. He was victorious over and exterminated the Kuangiang rebels: the Nieptze and other disloyal bands. Then no carried his arms into Kansu and among the robollious Mahomedans outside the gates of China propert. Their dens were clearad out and the leaders captured. His military services were great indeed. He was expecially favoured by the preceding Emperors, who made him Ki-ju-wei, conferred on him a double-ayed pancock's feather, and promoted him successively hang Yao pacified the Mahomedan country and was created first-class Ching-chu-fu-wei with the iddition of Yung-ki-wei. He was appointed Governor of Kunngsi, with brevet rank as the President if the Board of Wer, and was transferred to the ment of the Yellow River Chang Yao devoted his whole energy. He personally inspected all the river works and headed his subordinates and workmen in repairing and defending the dykes with might and main. He was diligent and aborious without cessation. The Empress-Downger commissioned him to be the Assistant Director of the Marine Board, bestowing on him the Junior-Guardianship of the Heir-Apparent. It was hoped that he would live to a ripe old age and that the Throne would long avail of his services. It was but recently that sickleave was granted him that he might obtain recovery.
